

Have You Seen These Dogs?

Please take a closer look!!!

We are lost please read our stories below and help us find our way back home "or" if we already have a home please contact Loving Touch (bottom of page) with the good news!!!

Pongo – a dog we rescued in June 2000. A friendly, gentle, male Dalmatian who was one of 3 dogs that was living with a homeless man. We rescued all three dogs before they were about to be picked up by the pound. A Brooklyn rescue group was nice enough to take 2 of the dogs and we took Pongo. He tested positive for heartworm. We treated him and he was adopted shortly after to a family in Fresh Meadows, N.Y. We recently found out that Pongo ran away sometime in 2001. We were not informed of this and unfortunately have now lost track of this wonderful dog. If you can remember back that far and know of someone who took in a dog that looks like Pongo PLEASE contact us. Pongo would be about 6 years old now. We are determined to find this dog and pray that he is safe and in good hands. We especially need to inform whoever may have him that it is important for him to be tested for heartworm every year. He may have been wearing a black collar with an ID Tag and rabies tag from Petcare Animal Clinic in Flushing, N.Y., tag number 222 showing vaccination in 2000.

Charlie – was a stray dog that found comfort in an auto body shop in Corona, N.Y. He befriended the shop owner and made the lot his home. He lived there for 4 years. In October 2003 the auto body shop was sold and Charlie was relocated to another auto body shop in Queens, near Union Turnpike. We were recently told that Charlie ran away, probably trying to return to the lot he knew as home in Corona. Charlie was a senior shepherd mix, not neutered, had lots of missing teeth, was large in size and very friendly.

If you have seen or picked up Charlie PLEASE contact us. We are praying that Charlie is safe. If you have come across this dog and he STILL needs a home PLEASE let us know and we will be there for him ASAP.

??????? — Female Rottweiler found March 2, 2004 in Bayside, N.Y. She was wearing a broken silver chain with a bolt around her neck. She was caught after 2 hours and a silver choke chain and chain link leash were put on her. Attached to that was a blue nylon lead. She was taken to her rescuer's yard for safe keeping until she could be seen by a vet the following morning. She was given food, water and a large igloo to keep warm in. She was tired and extremely frightened. She cried when you approached her but would allow you to pet her. She looked as though she had several litters in her short life. We know that she had a good night sleep and lots of food. She was seen in the yard at 6:30 a.m. but someone managed to escape before 8:15 a.m. on March 3rd. If you should come across this dog PLEASE call us and we will come and get her. We know that she must have had an owner but we also know that her owner was not caring for her properly and was most likely breeding her. She is terrified but we can tell that if given proper care she can come around and be adoptable. Please help us find these dogs.
